

I am strongly opposed to the use of cellular telephones aboard airborne aircraft. I think that with the close confines in an aircraft, having the person next to you (or a few rows away) talking into a phone loudly is too disruptive to those around the caller.